

ALLIES CAPTURE 9 SICILIAN PORTS, TOWNS

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

OUR tight-lipped Allied high command is doing much and saying little about the Sicilian invasion but our information is sufficient to tell us that we have established our bridgeheads along a hundred mile stretch of the south-east coast of the island and thus have successfully inaugurated the greatest amphibious attack of history.

Through these all-important gaps in the Axis defenses already are pouring the reinforcements, machines of war and supplies which will enable the troops of the United Nations to reduce one of the most important defenses of southern Europe.

It's quite likely that we have a fierce and bloody struggle ahead of us before we master this battle ground of the ancients, but we would seem to have broken the back of the job already, for establishment of the bridgeheads was the crucial task.

So the Allied boot at long last is jammed into a door of the continent. To Messrs Hitler and Mussolini this must signal strongly the approach of retribution, for the forces massed in the vast North African camp for invasion operations comprised not only Americans, English and Canadians, but men from occupied countries where the Axis has murdered and raped and plundered—France, Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia.

American and other Allied troops are astride the peninsula which forms the southeast tip of Sicily, ending in Cape Passero. One German military analyst asserts that the Allies are bent on establishing a front across this southeastern corner between the city of Gela on the west and Syracuse to the north.

One would say that the general not only intends to establish such a front but apparently has done so already.

At least three Axis airfields were early in the invaders' hands—two at Gela and another at Pachino, near the cape. Those fields should be invaluable to the attack in its early stages, and they likely are being used. Latest reports from headquarters in North Africa say that fleets of Allied bomber-fighters have been slashing steadily at Axis troops and positions along the invasion front.

There naturally are no official figures for the forces involved. However, London observers place the Axis strength in Sicily at about 400,000 men, including considerable German reinforcements.

Berlin is toying with figures which indicate that they believe the Allies are drawing from a reservoir of close to a million men in Africa, and that there may be 450,000 effective troops in the actual assault. The Nazi "place the Allied air force in the Mediterranean theater at about 4,000. The invasion fleet of 600 ships is the greatest ever assembled.

Whatever the exact figures may be, the essential point is that the United Nations seem to have sufficient resources of all sorts in the Mediterranean to turn the trick, and then some. Having said this, it must be added that the comparatively smooth going of the invasion thus far is too good to be taken as a gauge of what is to come.

State Legion Head Calls For An Alert Home Front Defense

"Wake Up to Responsibilities," Coffey Tells Stadium Audience Following Parade Sunday; Attacks Lewis; Wetzel Named Vice Commander

With an impassioned appeal for Americans to wake up, not to become soft when there is so much to be done on the home front before the war can be won, Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, commander of the American Legion of Ohio, delivered one of the most inspiring and impressive speeches ever heard in Salem at the Reilly stadium ceremonies which brought to a close the two-day convention of the Tenth Legion district Sunday afternoon.

Coffey branded John L. Lewis as America's enemy No. 3—Hitler, Tojo and Lewis—and received resounding applause for his statement.

The address climaxed a busy convention session which saw C. W. Whittemyer of Canton elevated from vice commander to district commander, succeeding J. Lee Pickering of Minerva, and Clarence L. (Dutch) Wetzel of Lisbon elected vice commander.

Ceremonies at the stadium followed a colorful parade through the downtown section, with streets lined with thousands of spectators for many blocks.

Coffey traced the four phases of the present war, starting with the scuttling of hundreds of the Navy's ships and the American Legion's unsuccessful fight over a period of several years, through its national defense committee, for a strong standing army and the re-building of the naval strength.

Cites Lack of Understanding
The second phase, he said, was the defensive phase which started with Pearl Harbor. "Few on the home front understand or realize what we have gone through," Coffey added as he recalled the lack of medical supplies, ammunition and food, through the loss of our Navy, that caused so many hardships and resulted in the loss of our Pacific islands.

Terming the third phase as the offensive, with American forces on 27 fronts today, the speaker deplored the fact that so many people "think it's all over."

"Already we're getting soft and letting up," Coffey said. "We on the home front have everything to say as to how long the war will last and how many lives will be lost. If we can shorten it by even one day, we will save hundreds of lives."

Then the head of the Ohio department of the American Legion held up to scorn John L. Lewis for closing the coal mines and losing the production of thousands of tons of steel. "We stood for that and turned thumbs down on the boys on 27 fronts who are depending on us to help them get this thing over as soon as possible."

"We tried Max Stephan for treason for helping a German aviator to escape so he could return to Germany to kill more of our boys. We gave him a fair trial in the American way and found him guilty. Three times the supreme court reviewed the case and Stephan was sentenced to death. Then Communist leaders circulated a petition for presidential pardon, which thousands of people signed. Then the president freed him from the death penalty."

No War Humanitarian
"Oh, wake up, Americans. We can't be soft. We are a great humanitarian nation, but we can't be humanitarian in time of war. You are endangering your religion, your freedom and everything you hold dear."

MORE COAL MINERS RETURNING TO JOBS

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—A back-to-work movement apparently was under way today in the southwestern Pennsylvania soft coal fields where insurgent strikers last week prevented more than 17,000 workers from going to their jobs.

Four major steel company-owned "captive" pits employing about 3,000 men resumed operations, and the area was reported partially operating. About 14,000 men still were absent from the mines.

Roving pickets who last week forced an almost complete shutdown of the pits which supply metallurgical coal to Pittsburgh district steel mills virtually disappeared today.

But despite the lack of pickets, miners at the big gates operation of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., a U. S. Steel subsidiary, refused to work. It was at this mine on Saturday that nearly 200 pickets blocked the way of 500 diggers.

Three More Men From District Are Inducted

Passing physical examinations after being held two days for clinical observation, three Salem men were inducted into the Army at Akron Saturday. They were members of the contingent which went to Akron last Wednesday.

The trio, which will leave July 24 for Fort Hayes, Columbus, includes: Richard Francis Louzenn, 275 W. Pershing st.; Vance Atkinson, 191 S. Elsworth ave.; and Harry Francis Kyser, Columbiana.

WHERE ALLIES BATTLE AXIS AFTER INVASION

A MIGHTY FORCE composed of American, British, and Canadian units are battling Axis defenders on Sicily after invading the Italian island under cover of a merciless air and naval bombardment. Algiers Radio said that the Allied armies had made their landings on the western tip (circle) of the island. The first waves of invaders stormed over heavily-mined, barricaded beaches. ## AXIS FEARING NEW THRUSTS

Germany and Italy, on the Alert, Anxiously Watch Sicilian Developments

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

Bern, July 12.—The entire fortress of Europe was on the alert today for new lightning Allied thrusts as Axis leaders in Germany and Italy anxiously watched the progress of the battle for the Mediterranean island of Sicily.

Dispatches reaching here today, from Berlin and Rome conceded that the Allies had established at least four bridgeheads in Sicily and looked ahead grimly to a day not far distant when they expect invasion barges to grate upon other shores along the Mediterranean.

Of the two Axis capitals Berlin took the news of the invasion more calmly, pointing out that it had long been expected and declaring that the advance Allied paratroopers and airborne units had been annihilated or surrounded and captured.

There was mounting tension in Rome and on the mainland of Italy. One dispatch from Milan said Premier Mussolini and King Vittorio Emanuele had made a point of being seen publicly in Rome, where the "atmosphere is heavy," and private sources revealed Mussolini had presided over a cabinet meeting yesterday.

It also was reported there had been further expulsions in the Fascist party in an effort to bolster crumbling morale and Italian newspapers were enlisted in a campaign to whip up enthusiasm for the fighting ahead.

Another factor which appeared to weigh heavily in depressing the Italian state of mind as the crisis approached was a steadily worsening food problem brought about by Allied air attacks on Italian railroads.

While private sources in Italy said the Italians had accused Germany of failure to send reserves to the Sicilian theater and were instead maintaining a guard at the northern frontier, the Nazis themselves were preparing for an attack in the Balkan area.

German leaders, pointing to the heavy bombing of Crete, suggested that the Balkans might be the next stop listed on the United Nations time table.

$249 Balance In Soldier Fund Will Be Divided

The remaining amount of funds collected last year to send Christmas packages to Salem men overseas will be divided equally among three organizations which will use it to benefit Salem servicemen in other ways, Lions club officials said today.

The plan to allot the money to the three organizations, the Salem Red Cross, Salem Bookers club and the U. S. O., was arranged by Lions club members and representatives of Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, who aided the drive a year ago. The amount to be divided totals $249.

Coal Shortage Causes Blast Furnace Shutdown

YOUNGSTOWN, July 12.—Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. today reduced output of its six big Ohio works blast furnaces here nearly 25 per cent for a second time as a result of the recent coal strike.

To conserve coke, the blast furnaces' output has been reduced to that of four and a half furnaces. This likely will be reflected in lowered steel tonnage output because of more cold iron will lengthen time of open hearth heats.

Describes Canadians In Action

(Editors Note: Following is a detailed eyewitness of the Canadian assault on southeastern Sicily and the first 24 hours of their invasion.)

By ROSS MONROE

Canadian Press War Correspondent Distributed by The Associated Press WITH THE CANADIANS IN SOUTHEAST SICILY, July 12.—(Delayed)—Sliding through Italian defenses in night and dawn landings on the long crescent beach, Canadian assault troops with a crack British formation on the right flank overran Pachino peninsula within 24 hours and established an invasion bridgehead.

It has been one success after another in this Canadian-British sector as the greatest combined operation in history was launched.

The Canadians now have advanced into hilly country northwest and west of Pachino and major engagements are expected with probably more determined Italians than the coastal defenders who put up only a mild fight.

First Day's Casualties Light

The past night and day have been one incredible series of incidents. I landed alongside the first wave of assault companies of a famous Canadian regiment on the sandy beach of Costa Dell'Ambrà, four miles southwest of Pachino, at 5:15 yesterday morning and the Canucks have been rushing ahead ever since. It is a tough job keeping up with them on two feet.

Canadian casualties for the first day were very light. The colonel who heads the divisional medical

Instructions Issued For Daylight Alert

Instructions for civilians to follow during the surprise daylight raid alert which will be held here sometime this week were emphasized today by Fire Chief Vincent Malloy, commander of the Salem Civilian Defense units. Eleven counties in Area 3 which includes Salem and neighboring towns will participate.

Emphasizing that procedure during the first daylight alert will be the same as in previous night tests, except for the blacking out. Malloy said that civilians must follow the regulations as rigidly as if an actual air raid were being staged.

Three Signals and "All Clear"

Test Warning 1—Preliminary caution signal. Key persons in Civilian Defense Corps, including staff members and chiefs of service are the only ones who receive this warning which means "enemy planes have been sighted but are a long distance away."

Test 2—Caution signal, with siren. All Civilian Defense corps personnel will mobilize immediately. Traffic lights will continue to operate. Cars may move at reduced speed. Pedestrians may proceed with caution, but are not definitely coming here.

Test 3—Short blasts or rising and falling blasts of the siren. Pedestrians immediately take shelter. Traffic except for emergency vehicles, must stop. Test 3 means "planes overhead." Test 2 (second)—Traffic lights will function again. Traffic may move at reduced speed and pedestrians may proceed with caution. The second Test 2 means "planes have departed, but may return."

Test 4—All clear signal. Blowing of air raid wardens whistles and blinking of street lights signify the all clear.

ALLIES STRIKE AT JAP BASES

Munda Most Heavily Hit: Word of Ground Action Scarce

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 12.—American bombers pounded four widely-separated Japanese bases in the Southwest Pacific Sunday, striking most heavily at Munda, the enemy's key defense point in the Central Solomons.

More than 176 tons of bombs were loaded on the Japanese strongholds and at least nine zeros which attempted to interfere were shot down. One Liberator and two Allied fighters were lost.

Torpedo and dive-bombers smashed 52 tons of heavy bombs upon anti-aircraft positions and bivouac areas near Munda. Stormy weather hampered the Avengers and Dauntless bombers as they roared in on Munda in another of the series of raids designed to soften the sector for ground forces already gathering in the jungle to storm the Japanese stronghold.

A headquarters spokesman said the ground situation at Munda was unchanged. Latest reports said United States forces were closing in on the outer perimeter of defense, with the nearest troops only three miles from Munda.

Liberator bombers over Bougainville island dropped 40 tons of bombs on Kahili, the enemy's largest air base in the Solomons. Several large fires were started. Three Japanese night fighters attempted unsuccessfully to intercept.

Liberators and Flying Fortresses teamed up for a night assault against Vunakana airfield at Rabaul. Their 35 tons of bombs started five large fires and many smaller fires.

In the Salamaua area, Mitchell bombers, escorted by P-38s, dropped down almost to tree-top level to deliver a devastating attack on villages along the trail from Mubo to Salamaua. Our lightning bolts shot down five enemy fighters that attempted interception but two of our fighters were missing.

VANDENBERG CITES WAR CABINET NEED

WASHINGTON, July 12.—With the assertion that the palace guard had got to be demobilized soon, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) called today for the establishment of a war cabinet to help President Roosevelt direct activities on the home front.

Forecasting further reorganizations in the administrative branch of government after Congress returns to work this fall, Vandenberg told an interviewer he believed there was a "relentless trend" underway in the country toward the formation of what he said "we loosely call a war cabinet."

"We need something of that kind instead of the existing kitchen cabinet in which there is very little confidence," he declared, adding: "The palace guard has got to be demobilized soon."

By "palace guard" Vandenberg said he meant a circle of advisers to the President.

Vandenberg said he wished President Roosevelt would "separate himself from the fourth tier."

Wellsville Boy Captured

WELLSVILLE, July 12.—Pvt. John W. Hanselman, who was previously reported missing in action in North Africa Feb. 17, is a prisoner of war in Germany, the International Red Cross today advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hanselman.

Push On After Initial Blows Are Successful

Lieut. Gen. Patton Directs Americans In Repulsing Enemy Counter-attack In Licata-Gela Area; British Report Capture of Syracuse

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 12.—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British armies raced toward Catania from captured Syracuse in a tremendous push up Sicily's east coast today after American and Allied forces had captured nine other important ports and towns, turned back seven counter attacks by enemy tanks and captured 2,000 prisoners, mostly Italians.

Leading the western crescent of the Allied attack, Americans under Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., crushed the heaviest of the enemy armored counter attacks in the Licata-Gela area some 80 miles west of Syracuse and advanced northward of Gela.

Heading units of his famous British Eighth army, which fought in epic battles from El Alamein, Egypt, across North Africa, Gen. Montgomery plunged toward Messina and the strategic straits some 80 miles northward after securing firmly the advantageous port of Syracuse, a city of 53,000 and potential springboard for invasion of the Italian mainland.

The Americans were holding a bridgehead 25 miles long and 10 miles deep after taking Licata and Gela on the south coast, said a dispatch from the Allied command post by Edward Gilling, representing the combined British press. Their equipment already was being unloaded at these ports.

Florida, eight miles inland from Syracuse, already is in British hands, said another dispatch.

Allied war planes already were sweeping the skies from airfields captured in Sicily.

They had left Catania, the next objective of the British march, aflame, and they had dive-bombed columns of Axis troops being brought up for counterattacks, destroying 400 or more of the enemy's vehicles.

Allied naval forces, unhampered by the Italian fleet, continued to pour men and supplies into the bridgeheads stretching for 100 miles along Sicily's southeastern coast for the rapid push up Sicily's eastern shore, and hurled shells into the enemy's communications and defenses.

Licata, 6 miles to the west on the south coast; Gela; Pachino; Cape Passero at the extreme southern tip of the island; Avola and Modica, midway between Syracuse and Pachino; Pozzallo, site of an important air base on the south coast; Scoglitti; Ispica; and Rosolini were among the captured places listed in today's Allied headquarters communiqué.

United States Troops Repulse Italian Counter-Blow

U. S. Troops Repulse Attack

American troops in the Gela area beat off counterattacks by the Italians' fourth Livorno division and 45 tanks in the heaviest of all the seven enemy counter-blows.

The 54th Napoli division was driven out of Syracuse by the British—a lightning blow at the end of the second day of the Allied invasion which appeared to be a serious handicap to the enemy in bringing up reinforcements to meet a rapidly swelling penetration into the interior of the island.

The civilian population "seemed more pleased to see us than they had been to the Huns," said one observer.

The swift occupation of the string of ports and towns along a 103-mile stretch of Sicily's southeastern coast was accompanied by a furious air action yesterday in which fleets of fast new American A-36 fighter-bombers smashed at least 400 enemy vehicles endeavoring to rush up troops and supplies for counterattacks, and heavy blows by four-engine and medium bombers at Catania, on the east coast, the Sicilian airdromes of Milo, Sciacca and Gerbini and two other airdromes at and near Reggio Calabria on the Italian mainland.

Catania Airdrome Is Reported Captured

(The Morocco radio broadcast a report, recorded in London by Reuters, that Allies had captured Catania airdrome.)

The series of Allied victories was achieved with dazzling speed as troops seasoned by hard combat under the Stars and Stripes in Tunisia drove into the hardest core of enemy resistance around Licata and Gela and bore the brunt of the enemy counter charges with determined fury.

British divisions with undying fame from the El Alamein battle-line in Tunisia showed back the enemy inexorably in a tremendous strike toward Messina straits after taking Syracuse.

The airline distance is only 30 miles from Syracuse to Catania, while Messina, across the narrow straits to the Italian mainland, is only 60 additional miles away.

Syracuse was an invaluable prize for the Allies, for its splendid port is the best possible kind of base from which they might mount an invasion of Europe.

From a growing list of airfields captured during the weekend—two at Gela and a third at Pachino already had fallen into Allied hands before today's announcements—Allied planes already were operating in devastating support of the ground columns.

The naval forces also contributed powerfully to the coordinated push, bombarding defended areas near Pozzallo and the railway command.

SICILY: MORE THAN AN ISLAND

Invasion of Sicily, besides marking a climax in the Mediterranean campaign begun last November, also marks the beginning of European invasion.

Technically an island, Sicily nevertheless is in effect a part of the Italian peninsula. The strait dividing it from the mainland proper is too narrow to permit naval action, which means that bridging it when resistance in Sicily has been overcome will not be a naval operation in the military sense.

Pending reports of the turn of the battle for Sicily, which no doubt will be defended stubbornly, no one can say that the invasion operation tersely reported by the war department has been a success. Sicily is not Lampedusa or Pantelleria. It is heavily populated, with stout defenses and ample room for military maneuvering—a major problem in tactics. All signs lately, furthermore, have pointed to the probability of more resistance from Germany than seemed likely after the collapse of its African army.

Meanwhile, it may be expected that further developments will occur—that invasion of Sicily is only one of a number of operations scheduled for this month in the plan to tighten the noose on Germany.

BUT IN SPITE OF IT ALL—

The Truman committee's report on airplanes, its latest and probably destined to be its most popular, drives home a moral about war production in general.

The committee finds that many things have been wrong with airplane production. A great deal of money has been wasted. Some models have been flops. The effect of too much green labor, spotty supervision and unskilled inspection has been a headache. New ideas have been hard to get under way, old ideas have been hard to stop. There have been honest mistakes and chiseling. Competitors have been scrambling for advantage, and some things have been misrepresented. And in spite of it all, the United States has built a powerful air force, furnished planes and parts for its allies and made its weight felt wherever the battle for control of the air rages.

With minor changes here and there, that is the story of all war production. Following the recital of things that have been wrong and the money that has been wasted comes the great American peroration—"but in spite of it all . . ." That has been the whole story of America's part in World War II so far. Just about everything has been done the hard way, but in spite of it all . . .

THE PEOPLE DO THE JUDGING

The country has stood divided during the controversy in the 78th congress over the legislative function in wartime.

Those who believe in representative democracy were encouraged by evidence that congress was trying to recover the prestige sacrificed since 1933 to an administration which used it on many occasions to confirm executive decisions.

Those who distrust representative democracy—and some of them lately have been tempted by their anger over congressional independence to make themselves known—were distressed by proof that congress still functions as a sounding board for public opinion and an agency for exercising popular sovereignty.

Apparently, some of these persons believe congress has ceased to be an important factor in self-government. It seems to be their belief that the popular mandate to govern resides in the hands of the executive, who may delegate it as he sees fit to appointive officials.

Thereafter, the appointive officials, free from the restraint imposed by the necessity of justifying their acts to any constituency but that of the bureaucracy of which they are members, proceed to govern by means of executive orders and directives.

This unnatural concept of government has been rejected by the congress which has recessed after a stormy session featured by a resurgence of congressional authority in the operation of the government. It has not been rejected, of course, by those who have been promulgating it within the New Deal and within the various aggressive minorities which have horse-traded with New Dealers for favor. They will be heard from again.

They are not reconciled to the defeat that must be dealt them for the preservation of the American form of constitutional government. One of their devices, already in use, will be to insist that executive government is indispensable in wartime because congress cannot keep abreast of worldwide developments. They will overlook the fact they were insisting on executive government in peacetime when the Roosevelt administration still was the spearhead of isolationism and insisting that worldwide developments could be ignored by the United States.

They will ignore the record showing congress has given the administration a free rein in the conduct of the war, except for occasional mild rebukes over the spending of a few needless millions of limitless billions that have been given to it on a blank check. They will pretend not to understand that congressional insistence on opening unsatisfactory domestic policies developed by appointive officials to review and revision is reflection of popular skepticism. And they certainly will not admit the charge, also stemming from public opinion, that the Roosevelt administration stands in danger of fumbling its foreign policy because it has neglected the less interesting details of sound domestic government. They can do no wrong, in their own judgment.

But they will be judged, fortunately, not by themselves or their admirers, but by all the people. They can be repudiated through the source of their power—the administration that has given them refuge and the appropriations that have made them arrogant. Never before have so many done so little for so much, and never before have so many Americans been aware of it. Incomprehensible as it may be to the men who thought they had risen above judgment, in a democracy the people do the judging and the people can't be wrong.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE RECORDS of vital statistics from all sources—life insurance companies and public health departments—indicate an increased mortality from disease of the coronary arteries of the heart leading to the familiar syndrome of angina pectoris.

It is by no means easy to account for this mounting increase. One could say that it was due to the fact that more people live to get into the coronary artery period of life than formerly, were it not for certain peculiarities in the statistics. For instance, it is four to six times more common among men than among women. Here it might be said that while men and women have the same changes in their coronary arteries, women in general lead less active lives, especially after the age of fifty, than men.

Another peculiarity comes into the statistics in that this form of heart disease affects the white collar workers a good deal more than it does the workers who do strenuous manual labor. For instance, among the professions, perhaps, the one in which it occurs most often is the physician. Certainly he does not do as hard work as the coal miner of the same age.

Emotional Factors

Again, if you attempt to explain it on the basis of emotional factors, one would think that the physician with his practiced control over his emotions would be fairly free from it. On the contrary, the physician is rather continuously subjected to emotional strain, worry and anxiety, perhaps more so than a man in any other profession. A priest can leave the future to God, a lawyer can leave it to the courts, but the futures of his patients are in the physician's own hands.

What role is played by nutrition, faults of nutrition, by tobacco and other chronic drug habits—coffee and alcohol, for instance?

Of course, the fundamental basis of angina is an organic changing in the coronary arteries, a process of aging, which causes them to thicken, become occluded and carry a smaller amount of blood to the heart muscle. But these arteries, as well as normal coronary arteries, are subject to spasm and the question arises: How can we prevent the spasm and prevent the nutritional changes that occur in the arteries?

Protective Vitamins

Dr. H. C. Sherman, one of the most eminent American nutritionists, believes that the addition of foods rich in calcium and protective vitamins to the diet of those beyond the age of 45 would increase by 10 per cent the years of active life. "Experimentally it has been shown that a higher than average calcium intake is conducive to better than average health." (Falk.) A calcium-rich diet tends to improvement in the utilization of food, greater adult vitality and a longer period between the attainment of maturity and the onset of senility.

The program for possible prevention of coronary artery disease and angina pectoris is one which rests on the responsibility of the individual and in this time when the young men of the country are out of industrial and professional work, every man from 40 on is faced with this obligation.

Bruce Barton has suggested that at the age of 45 a man should review himself and determine which personal type of intemperance is his weakness. He says that alcoholic intemperance is relatively insignificant when compared to the intemperance of other types, such as excessive work, life-sapping worry and feverish pursuit of pleasure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

bulk and produce elimination?

Answer: Nearly any except potatoes. Radishes, celery, carrots, string beans, asparagus, lettuce, cabbage, onions, turnips and beets are conspicuous in having plenty of roughage. These fruits are laxative—apples, grapes, blueberries, cherries, peaches, pears, apricots, etc.

G. M. B.: Can tuberculosis be cured by shots?

Answer: Medical science has accumulated a great many reliable methods of curing tuberculosis, but no method of hypodermic medication has ever been successful. So why experiment with a doubtful remedy, when there are good ones available?

E. S. M.: Will camphor dry up a goiter?

Answer: Neither camphor nor anything else will dry up a goiter.

P. F. B.: How is it possible to find out for certain whether a person has trichinosis—by blood or X-ray?

Answer: Trichinosis is infection with a little worm that grows in raw pork. When uncooked pork is eaten, it enters the blood stream and settles in the muscles. There are blood changes, but the most reliable way of diagnosis is to cut a little piece of muscle out and see if you can find a cyst imbedded.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 235 E. 46th st., New York. SYNOPSIS

There was no threat of stormy weather when pretty Ann Rivers left her married sister's swank home in Bar Harbor, Maine. But on a lonely road outside Providence, she ran into a sleet storm—and a ditch—from which her car refused to budge. At the Tru-Frend Tourist Bungalow where she sought help, the brusque young proprietor informs her the telephone is out of order. Paul Freund's mother, a kindly old lady, suggests that Ann take one of the cabins for the night. Sitting before the Friends' kitchen fire, Ann recalls her imperious sister Helen's disapproval of her plans to seek employment in New York and, if possible, locate a buyer for Broadfields, the large farm in Connecticut left Ann by her late father. Mrs. Freund explains that Paul's wife, Carol, is expecting a baby. Ann visits with Carol while Paul is having his dinner and later, as she leaves for her cabin, elderly Mrs. Freund expresses the hope that Ann will not mind sharing it with Rosalinda.

CHAPTER FOUR

Ann stumbled out into the darkness. The wind almost bowled her over, and sleet cut into her skin like flying pebbles. It was all she could do to accomplish the short distance to the blinking electric bulb beckoning her through the gale. She bent her head and started to make a dash for it, only to become rooted to the ground in a panic of fear such as she had never before experienced. Dogs! A pack of dogs, an army of dogs—barking, snarling, growling at her very shoulder.

Ordinarily she wasn't afraid of any animal from a mouse to a snake, but the pitch blackness, in the middle of a storm, with your arms stuffed with blankets, was no place to make a hero of yourself.

A window in the house raised, and Paul's sharp whistle sounded. The dogs immediately subsided except for a few low mutterings.

"Don't mind them," he shouted. "They're all in kennels!"

"Thanks," Ann called back drily. She scraped her feet on the porch of the cottage. With both arms about the bulky bundle, she knocked on the door with difficulty, her hat tilting over one ear and a bit of stuff from the blanket making her sneeze.

There was no response. Rosalinda was either sleeping or had not yet come in. Perhaps, Ann thought as she pushed open the door, Rosalinda will be stuck somewhere, and I'll have the room to myself tonight. Dear Lord, if You'll kindly see to that for me, I'll do something for You some day. She meant it, without filippancy.

She pushed the door to behind her, and led by the wavering light from the porch, deposited her burden on one of the two iron bedsteads. There was a slight whimpering in the far corner of the room. Ann froze. Rosalinda was either a lady of liquor, or the village idiot. Definitely, she must be one or the other to be sitting in the corner of a dark room on a night like this.

Ann wanted to sing out jauntily. "Come out, come out wherever you are!" but all she could manage was a croak that was meant to sound like "Hello."

She waited. There was only silence to her friendly overture, and then the soft resumption of the whimpering, as if Rosalinda were crying to herself.

You're in for a pleasant night, Miss Rivers, Ann assured herself. Rosalinda is not only tight, but she has a weeping jag to boot.

"I'm going to put up the light," she warned her unseen roommate politely. It took a certain amount of exploring before her hand connected with a switch near the door. She snapped it, trying to be nonchalant.

The room blazed with light, and at the same instant there was a sharp ejaculation of surprise and protest from a low divan at the far corner. Ann stared. Then she started to laugh.

Rosalinda, recumbent upon the soft mattress, stretched the full length of it with dignity and a deep sense of possession, was gullible of lace camisole or trailing corset strings. Rosalinda was a mammoth, darkly-brindled Dane.

"It—it is Rosalinda, is it not?" Ann essayed on a wave of doubt.

Yes, it was Rosalinda. At the mention of her name the dog pointed her ears, and looked toward Ann with broad twitching nostrils. Then, deciding that the intruder was not objectionable, she gave a low whine of acceptance and cradled her great head once more between her paws.

Ann melted into sheer emotionalism. She'd always been a fool when it came to a dog, and the bigger the dog, the bigger the fool. "You great ninny, you!" she whispered, crowding down beside Rosalinda, and putting her arms around the magnificent neck. "Move over, can't you?"

Rosalinda moved reluctantly, and with some misgiving. This was her sofa, and from past experience she knew that when you gave people an inch, they were likely to take a divan. However, Ann's lap proved a pleasant enough pillow, and Rosalinda resettled herself with a gusty sigh of satisfaction.

Ann surveyed her companion. Rosalinda was doubtless a fine pet, but she didn't look like much in the way of Great Dane. Ann had been brought up with a Great Dane and she remembered that it was a breed that went all to conformation—lithe, massive, clean-cut lines, and vibrant springs of action. In later years, her father had fancied setters, and she had been raised with never less than half a dozen or so about the place. She prided herself on knowing dogflesh. Rosalinda was of the pet class—a little old and much too fat—obviously a lady who cared a great deal about her creature comforts. Rosalinda might well run to lace camisoles and trailing corset strings in some future incarnation!

Ann wondered how a luxury breed (a Great Dane was no joke to feed) had come to be part of the modest household of the Friends. Were there, perhaps, more Great Danes in the kennels outside? There were two kinds of dog people; those who raised them and those who collected them—but she couldn't imagine in which category the owners of the Tru-Frend Tourist Cottages could possibly fall. Maybe, she said to herself, this is all part of a dream, like Alice in Wonderland. She half-expected Rosalinda to turn into a pig within her arms—

Rosalinda remained a dog, but her head became a ton of lead. Ann lifted it and gingerly moved her leg which had fallen asleep. Rosalinda gave a low woof of resentment.

"If you think," Ann said, "that I'm going to sit up all night holding your head, you're mightily mistaken." And Ann crossed the room to her bed.

Rosalinda, however, was already deep in dreams. Her feet worked rhythmically, and she snuffled her jowls like a horse.

"I'm afraid you're going to snore a lot, my girl," Ann remarked dubiously, as she struggled through the tent-like proportions of the generous flannel nightgown which old Mrs. Freund had slipped in with the blankets. "But go ahead and ever have your nightmares. I'm going to have a few myself." She opened the window, turned off the light, and jumped into bed. "I bet I have bigger and better ones!" she called out into the darkness.

Rosalinda answered with a long drawn-out sigh.

"And please remember the sofa's your bed, and this is mine; No poaching, I know your kind from way back!"

Rosalinda didn't poach, but she was certainly noisy Ann decided, as she lay listening to the miscellany of sounds which issued from the corner of the room. Rosalinda held a veritable symposium with herself. She went through a whole repertoire of sounds from bass to contralto, with innumerable variations and nuances. She played herself like an organ, tentatively essaying one stop and then another, and finally going into subtle combinations of stops, while her footwork on the treadles was magnificent. Ann covered her head with the sheet. It did no good. Now there were rustlings and scratches, and long rippling arpeggios, as a mammoth paw drew along the rippled material of the sofa cover.

After half an hour of this, Ann's nerves were ragged. "Wake up and come out of it!" she implored hoarsely. "I'm going crazy!" Silence. "Intermission," Ann concluded. "She's getting up steam for the next performance."

The next performance began shortly, like a concert orchestra tuning up. Now a wind, now a string, now a few tentative notes from the drums. Ann had the sense that she would only have to tap a baton to have the piece commence.

It commenced, however, without benefit of baton—a deep sonorous bassoon note, a thin flute-like note, and then bassoon and flute together in close harmony. Ann sat bolt upright in bed. Two such sounds could not have come at one and the same time from one and the same throat. She listened attentively. The close harmony came again. Ann's mouth hung open. It was against nature. It would take two dogs to make that noise, and one of them couldn't be a Great Dane the size of Rosalinda. She reached out and switched on the table light.

She blinked and rubbed her eyes and blinked again. Then she was half way across the room, putting on Paul's coat and slamming down the window on the way.

"Oh, my goodness!" she gasped. "You poor darling, why didn't you say so! And me calling you fat and lazy!"

Rosalinda raised her head and nuzzled the puppy forward for Ann's inspection and approval.

"Oh my, can I touch it?"

It was damp, but almost dry—and silky and small, like a chipmunk. Its eyes were tight shut and its head wavered about exploring an inch or two this way and that.

Ann sat back on her heels. "Oh, this is incredibly wonderful!" she whispered in awe.

Her awe became amazement, and amazement was quickly followed by consternation as Rosalinda, with dispatch, competence, and a beautiful simplicity, enacted the eternal miracle of birth before Ann's eyes. What had been a solo in flute became a duet, as a second puppy gulped air and gave notice that the world possessed yet another living creature. Rosalinda approved the ready din, and commenced to bathe and tidy up her child with all the fine aplomb of motherhood.

"Isn't there anything I can do? Isn't there anything anybody can do?" Ann begged.

Rosalinda didn't think so. This is something that I know very well how to do by myself, she seemed to say. Something that we dogs have been doing these many millions of years.

In all, Ann watched beside and tended, with sympathy and high approbation, the birth of nine puppies. After the ninth had come, Rosalinda heaved a great sigh, rested for a moment, and then shaking herself slightly as if to convey that a mother's work was never done, began washing her nine children all over again.

SLEEPY TIME SUMMER WEAR IS COOL AND LOVELY

LIGHT WEIGHT boudoir wear to keep you cool when nights are hot, is easy to find this summer. Fresh nightgowns, pajamas and negligees in smooth rayon crepe and satin or sheers go a long way toward making life pleasant when the mercury clings to the upper brackets. Three of the season's models are pictured above: Gossamer rayon chiffon in palest blue makes the negligee, left, which is trimmed with matching net ruching, and a satin-sashed empire waistline. It is worn over a matching nightgown of rayon crepe with gathered chiffon bodice. The nightgown, center, is made of rose-colored rayon sheer with a delicate print patterning of tiny pastel flowers, with self-ruffles banding the square décolletage below double shoulder straps. The pajamas, right, are fashioned of pink rayon crepe with bouquets of garden roses printed thereon. Self-piping gives a nice tailored finish to front-closing, cuffs and crescent pockets of the comfortably fitted jacket.

Marriage Chances Are Better In South

BY H. W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK—Your chances of getting married are greatest if you live in the south.

Second come the northern states and the last the far west. These figures are from the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

As these figures were gathered recently, the far west was coming up with a rush. Its marriage rate was rising faster than that in the south or north. In all three areas the marriage rate has been rising since 1940, because of the war. Some married before the war parted them, others probably because they had more money from war jobs.

In the south nine per cent of eligible persons of 15 years and over wed each year. In the far west this rate has been five per cent.

Age does not seem to make much difference in the south. The rate here at 45 and older is twice the rate of northern marriages of similar ages and about three times the western rate. Among women under 20, relatively twice as many southern girls go to the altar compared with their northern sisters.

As people grow older men remain marriageable at much higher rates than women. Between 60 and 69, the national marriage rate of eligible men is 2.9 per thousand for women.

Negro Dies In Riot At Camp Shenango

SHENANGO, Pa., July 12.—One Negro soldier was killed and six others were wounded in an encounter between white and Negro soldiers at Camp Shenango Sunday evening, the Army press relations office announced today.

A statement from the post said: "Friction between white and colored troops which developed at Shenango personnel replacement depot Sunday evening resulted in the death of one Negro soldier and the wounding of six others. All the men are being treated at the station hospital."

"A board of inquiry has been appointed by Col. Zim E. Lawhon, post commander, and is making an investigation."

"A dispute arose between white and colored soldiers at a post exchange about 9:30 p. m. Sunday. The troops were addressed by the post commander, who pointed out the serious consequences that might arise in such a situation."

"The soldiers involved in the controversy proceeded to their respective areas. As a precautionary measure, military police were alerted to control traffic and prevent further outbreaks."

"Later, an undetermined number of colored soldiers forcibly entered a supply building in their battalion area and armed themselves with rifles and ammunition and began firing into an area occupied by white soldiers."

"Colored soldier was wounded and died at 10:47 p. m. in the station hospital. Six other colored soldiers were admitted to the post hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds. Another soldier was treated for cuts and lacerations."

June Weather Aids Late-Planted Ohio Crops, Report Says

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 12.—The Ohio cooperative crop reporting service said today favorable June weather aided development of late-planted field grains throughout the state, but that the anticipated reduction of per-acre yields would cut harvest materially in comparison with record 1942 crops.

As of July 1, the report said an average corn yield of 41 bushels an acre was expected, 15 bushels less than last year, for a total 1943 production of 141,450,000 bushels. Last year's harvest was 185,752,000 bushels and the 10-acre average 142,091,000 bushels.

Winter wheat yields were set at 26,367,000 bushels, some 10,000,000 bushels less than last year on the basis of an indicated 17 bushels an acre, against 21 bushels in 1942. The outlook for oats was 44,410,000, compared with 1942's 51,824,000-bushel harvest, on the basis of 35.5 bushels an acre, a 5.5 bushel drop. The soybean acreage is 1,568,000, an 11 per cent decline from 1942, and sugar beet plantings of 20,000 acres are only 42 per cent of the 48,000 acres harvested last year. The indicated beet yield of 5.5 tons is far below 1942's record of 12.4 tons an acre.

Present prospects point to a potato harvest of 9,114,000 bushels, slightly under the 9,180,000 a year ago.

Burley tobacco apparently will yield 13,160,000 pounds, an increase over last year's 12,100,000 pounds.

CHECK YOUR CAR AT SMITH GARAGE

Poor Headlights, Wobbly Wheels Often Cause Of Accidents

Twice-a-year, have your wheels, brakes and headlights tested, or your car isn't safe to drive! Such is the advice of safety authorities to a nation crusading against the frightful toll of automobile accidents.

Next to reckless driving, defective headlights are responsible for more accidents than any other cause. Yet when did you have your headlights last tested for focus and intensity. There are many causes of defective headlights. Bumps throw them out of alignment. Filaments sag and get out of focus. Dust or tarnish fogs the reflectors. Lamps lose efficiency. Electrical contacts corrode. The only way to guard against these things is to have the headlights tested twice-a-year.

"Another important safety factor overlooked by the car owner is wheel alignment. Ruts, bumps, curb scuffing, and wear make twice-a-year checkup of wheel alignment imperative to safe driving. When front wheels are out of alignment only an eighth of an inch, the tires are actually being dragged sideways one mile in every hundred.

"The only way to make sure your car wheels are in alignment is to have them tested. The Smith garage, Third st. at Vine ave., specializes in this work.

Termites Destroy Valuable Property

If you see small mud streaks leading from the ground up the foundation of your property or what appears to be sawdust anywhere inside or outside your home, you'd better play safe and phone 3585 for it's more than likely termites are at work.

A careful inspection through the basement and around the foundations on the outside is well worth while, it just might save you plenty.

There is a kind of bumble bee that actually digs its way in soft wood, leaving behind the saw dust appearing particles, but seldom will this be the cause and of course the mud track up the foundation wall may not be the tunnel through which the termites travel but it will be in most cases.

Unless you are truly experienced, it's much safer to phone 3585 and ask to have the termite control representative come out and make sure. If termites are present the representative will be able to show you and at the same time give you an estimate of the cost necessary to rid your property of these expensive insects.

HOUSING CHANGES WILL BE GRADUAL

So Declares Official of Weather Seal Storm Window Company

Changes in postwar housing will be gradual, certainly not the drastic changes sometimes forecast, H. A. Etling, combination storm window and screen inventor and president of Weather-Seal, Inc., told a branch and dealer meeting of his organization today.

"There will be refinements," he said, "but it would be ridiculous to suppose that the nation's 37,325,470 dwelling units will be torn down and replaced with homes embodying various innovations."

"Fashions in houses change, but it's gradual evolution rather than radical departure from established design and tested construction."

"Fuel shortages and rationing have driven home the importance of waste elimination. The amazing growth of our company indicates the public's thought on conservation."

"This lesson will not be forgotten when the war ends. People know now that they can maintain more constant temperatures and more healthful homes by insulating them. Their windows are the source of more than half of their heat loss."

"This realization is responsible for the great demand for Weather-Seal windows, and this demand will

EMPHASIZES NEED OF WHEEL BALANCE

Matt Klein Anxious to Explain Why Car Alignment Is Important

There are a number of things which can happen to an automobile to take the joy out of driving. Among these is uncertain steering caused by shimmying, vibration and bouncing. And the primary cause, usually, is unbalanced wheels.

Because the steering wheel is in the hands of the driver all the time these symptoms are apparent all the time and eventually become so annoying that motoring becomes a burden instead of a pleasure.

And, in addition to that, the element of danger involved.

Then, too, a tire out of balance wears much faster.

There is a way to get rid of this. Matt Klein's garage, at 813 New Garden st., has it.

The device is the Bear dynamic wheel balancer. On this balancer each wheel is rotated at high speed and the neon eye device detects every spot on the wheel which may be out of balance.

If you're having steering trouble, drop in and see Matt. If it can be fixed, he'll tell you how to do it.

Durocher Believed On Way Out As Brooklyn Manager

Bobo Newsom Suspended In Latest Revolt; Sports Scribes Say 'Lippy' Won't Last Year

By TED MEIER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo "Lippy" Durocher apparently is on the way out as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as the aftermath of the revolt against his leadership that startled the baseball world Saturday.

While on-the-surface peace reigned today in this latest Ebbets field episode, involving the three-day suspension of star pitcher Bobo Newsom for what Durocher termed "insubordination," the sentiment of the players was reliably reported to be that they are "sick of being second guessed" and that future flareups can be expected unless Durocher succeeds in restoring harmony. New York baseball writers agreed that "there are strong reasons to believe Leo will not last the season as manager."

These developments overshadowed yesterday's furious action on the diamond that saw the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees sweep doubleheaders from the Boston Braves and Chicago White Sox to widen their leads to 5½ and 4½ games, respectively.

The onrushing Cardinals chalked up their sixth in a row and their 15th triumph in 15 starts as Harry Gumbert blanked the Braves, 3 to 0, and Whitey Kurowski doubled with the bases full in the 11th inning for a 9 to 6 conquest in the nightcap.

The Yankees likewise wound up their western invasion in fine style by making it four straight over the White Sox and their ninth win in 11 starts. The scores were 9-0 and 8-6.

Candini Suffers Defeat

Milo Candini suffered his first defeat in eight starts for Washington when Cleveland knocked him out in the first inning and went on to a 5 to 1 victory. The Senators, however, gained a split for the day by winning the second game, 6 to 4, in 10 innings.

Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics also split a twin bill. Rookie Don Black of the A's beat the Tigers, 4 to 3, in the opener and the veteran Tommy Bridges twirled a brilliant three-hit shutout to gain a 9-6 triumph for the Tigers in the nightcap.

Behind the seven-hit pitching of Bucky Walters and Ray Starr, Cincinnati beat the slumping Phillies twice, 7 to 4 and 14 to 2.

The St. Louis Browns took both ends of their bargain bill from the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 7, in 12 innings and 4 to 2.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Giants divided their second successive doubleheader. Ernie Lombard's 10th inning homer won the first for the Giants, 4 to 3. Bill Nicholson's seventh inning homer with one on gave the Cubs the second by the same score.

Pittsburgh beat Brooklyn 3 to 2 but the Dodgers came back to win the nightcap, 5 to 4.

Arky Vaughan, third baseman who asserted that Newsom's suspension was unjust and turned in his uniform Saturday, then resigned after a conference with President Branch Rickey, played in both games, getting three hits in seven times at bat.

Trapshoot Attracts Crowd Over Sunday

COLUMBUS, July 12.—Ohio chalked up a new national record for attendance at state trapshoots today, despite an ammunition shortage and restrictions on travel.

Participants in the 57th annual Buckeye championships totaled 334, an increase of 17 over last year when a national mark also was set.

C. E. Huber, 53, of Tiffin broke 100 targets in succession to win the 16-yard title at yesterday's final session. He fired 6,800 registered targets at 16 yards last year for the top national average of 5601 for that number.

Jack Lory, 54, of Lima won the handicap laurels, downing C. F. Shine of White Cottage and J. R. Dillon of Springfield in a 75-target shootoff.

The women's 16-yard title went to Mrs. H. B. Rader of Jefferson, who hit for 91 of 100 targets, defeated Pauline Noble of Willard 23 to 21 in a 25-target shootoff.

Twenty-year-old Joad Devers of Dayton took the junior crown with 82 of 100 and Karl Maust of Lima won the amateur all-around title with 236 of 250.

Those with 99 scores at 16 yards were Walter Eaged and Albert Schoenlein of Dayton, C. G. Wehr of Hamilton, C. C. Kunkel of Columbus and H. M. Jones of Homestead, Pa. They duked against a shoot off and Schoenlein won second on the flip of a coin. Those turning in 98's in the 16-yard event included Dan Pickering of Lancaster.

HITTING BARRAGE BEATS PLACENTIA

Lakers Are Held to Four Hits, Blanked 12-0 By Akron Goodrich

Akron Goodrich pounded four Lake Placencia pitchers for 14 hits and 12 runs in a 12-0 shutout at the lake Sunday.

T. Boyes, star Akron twirler, held the Lakers to four hits and his brother, First Baseman A. Boyes, clouted a homer. Boyes struck out eight Placencia batters.

Gaughn started on the mound for Placencia and contributed six runs, eight hits and four bases on balls to the visitors. He was relieved in the sixth by Hrovatic, who allowed three runs on two hits and three passes. Simpson went to the mound in the ninth, giving up three runs and three hits in that inning. Akron had 11 stranded on bases, Placencia 10.

Barberton will play at the lake grounds next Sunday.

His Javelin Won Even If He Couldn't Compete

PHILADELPHIA—In 1942, Seymour Cohen, while a student at Pennsylvania osteopathy threw the javelin 221 feet 7½ inches, the best distance for the year.

Cohen was ineligible to compete in the Penn Relays this year having been a varsity athlete at Franklin-Marshall for three years. He went out in practice and tossed the javelin 222 feet. Then he gave his javelin to Garland Adair who won the event with 189 feet 6½ inches.

All-Star Battle Is Set For Tuesday At Philadelphia Park

By SID FEDER

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—The major league moguls must have had at least a swami or a ouija board handy when they decided, six months ago, to put the All-Star game in Philadelphia this year.

It was at their winter pow-wow that the club owners sent the inter-league lawn party here, although technically the game wasn't slated for the east this year. It comes off tomorrow in Shibe park, and it's probably the luckiest decision the moguls have made since pop bottles were barred for throwing purposes at umpires.

For when the Nationals and the Americans start shooting at 9 p. m. (EWT), it like as if every one of the 32,480 seats will be full of customers and the S.R.O. sign will be out.

The flight of the "Phantastic" Phillies and the surge of the Athletics, brief as it was, have brought the fans out.

As for the game itself, early arrivals were giving the National league bandwagon a real high-ride, pointing out that the senior circuit was sporting more pitching and what is even rarer, more power.

Still, the betting commissioners have installed the American leaguers 5 to 6 favorites to make it eight out of 11 in these shindigs.

The July meeting of the hot-stove set argued most over whether Billy Southworth would start his St. Louis Cardinal ace, Mort Cooper again, for the National league or would give his southpaw specialist Howie Pollet, a crack at opening the fireworks.

Some of the sitters pointed out that Cooper rated a chance to get "Hink" for the way the Americans sewed up the game with two homers in the first inning last year. The rest maintained that since Pollet is due to go into the air corps Thursday, Billy the Kid would let him start this one as a final fling.

Spud Chandler, the one-time Georgia footballer, was due to open for the Americans, but he served up a full nine-inning "meal" yesterday, and it was believed Joe McCarthy might go to his other Yankee star, Tiny Bonham.

In this league, you know the pitchers will throw them over the plate. In high school, they're liable to throw it over you, behind you, or at you.

Jack doesn't think 270 too high to aim at, since he hit 375 last season in high school, and, after all, he expects to see action only when the Orioles are way ahead, hopelessly trailing, or if Sammy Bell gets hurt.

Praised By Manager
Anything he does won't surprise Manager Tommy Thomas, who terms his roommate "a very good prospect, with a great pair of hands, ability to hit to all fields, unlimited confidence, and fanatical enthusiasm."

Jack was signed early in May after a friend of his father, a farm implement salesman, brought him to the attention of George W. Reed, Baltimore club president. He made his debut May 23, playing one inning against Syracuse, not getting a chance to bat or handle the ball at all.

Thomas has only one fault to find with his recruit: "He sleeps too much—12 hours a night. That boy's upsetting my routine."

INDIAN ALL-STARS ENTRAIN FOR EAST

Army-Navy Grid Classic Is In Doubt This Year

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 12.—Six Cleveland Indians head eastward today and the remainder of the Tribe treks to the west, where league hostilities will resume after Philadelphia's All-Star classic Tuesday.

The select half dozen—Lou Boudreau, Ken Keltner, Al Smith, Jim Bagby, Buddy Rosar and Jeff Heath—were chosen on the junior loops' all-star team.

The Tribe ended a series with Washington yesterday splitting a 5 to 1 triumph and a 6 to 4 defeat. Al Smith allowed only five hits as he chalked up his eighth victory against two defeats, and in the same motion handed young Mito Candini his first loss of the season.

In the nightcap, Allie Reynolds allowed only a pop single for six innings and then fell victim to three hits and a stomach disorder and left the game. Pete Center, last of five Cleveland hurlers to see action in the game, forced in the final Washington run by issuing two bases on balls.

Out of league action until Thursday, the sixth-place Indians will play a military team in a St. Louis exhibition game Wednesday.

Football Too Slow For British

AP Features

LONDON — Britons prefer their rugby to American football.

Approximately 25,000 turned out to watch a couple of American Army teams play and although treated to the 75-yard run for a touchdown on the kickoff, the general view was that the game was too slow.

"Too much whistle" was the big objection.

The huddle and frequent timeouts did not meet with any favor, either. The idea of calling time-out to rest and the use of a substitute for an injured or tired player baffled the British.

In rugby if a player gets hurt his team plays one man short.

As the London Times sports editor wrote:

"There were too many delays and judging by rugby football standards the game was slow."

"The English liked the 'slick' passing which, the News of the World sports expert speculated, 'was due no doubt, to pre-arranged tactics.'"

Best summation of the British view came from the Sunday Observer's sports editor.

"The American game," he said, "does not flow with the smooth continuity of rugby football but proceeds by a series of jerks with a great deal of whistle."

"No doubt it grows upon one, but the 'huddles' and time outs" and the fact that the play stopped every time the ball went on the ground certainly slowed things up.

"The most intriguing feature of the game to English eyes was the 'running interference,' or, as we should call it, 'obstruction.'"
